Later from Oregon and the Sound.

By the arrival of the Eliza Anderson on Tuesday, we have Oregon and Puget Sound dates to the 27th ult. There is no news from California. We are indebted to Capt. Fleming for late papers. We call the Oregon items from the Portland Advertiser.

TRIPLE MURDER.—A dispatch from Weaver-ville, Trinity county, dated Dec. 10th, says: "To-day a man named Robbins, in a dispute with three other men about a claim on Indian creek, killed two of them on the spot, and wounded the other so that he is not expected to live. Robbins is under arrest."

SICKNESS AMONG CHILDREN.—There is considerable sickness in town among children—a prevailing influence in which there is much suffering, but not attended necessarily by any great danger if immediate and proper attention is given to the complaint at once. In some cases it is not confined to the children alone but entire families are attacked with it.

EXPORTS.—The steamer Pacific left here Sunday last for San Francisco with a full cargo, consisting of 1,600 barrels of flour, 4,500 boxes of apples, and also a quantity of wool, chickens, butter, bacon, lard, and 12 horses.

Puget Sound.

Ladies have been visiting our neighbor of the Olympia Standard, at which the editor is exceedingly pleased. Judging from the last sentence of the paragraph, some of them must have "proposed" to the Knight of the Quill. "Our office was honored with a visit from several beautiful young ladies on Christmas day. They seemed, however, totally oblivious that leap-year was so near a close."

DOINGS OF THE LATE RECEIVER OF LANDS. We call the special attention of our readers to the advertisement from the Land Office. It appears that the former Receiver, Mr. Garfield, never has made any return to the General Land Office of monies received by him for public lands during the time he held the office of Receiver. Every person, therefore, who has paid money to Mr. Garfield on account of lands, should at once give information of the same to the Registrar and Receiver, as per advertisement.—J. T. Register.

BOGUS MONEY.—We learn that there are some strangers in town who have with them quantity of bogus twenty dollar pieces which they have offered on several occasions. They have beside the twenties, five and two-and-a-half dollar pieces. We hope the authorities will arrest the scoundrels and punish them as they deserve.—J. T. Register.

The Register says that Mount Baker is emitting a heavy volume of smoke and flame.

POLITICAL MOVEMENTS IN CENTRAL AMERICA.—Now, that the fear of Walker, the filibuster is at an end, many of the leading Nicaraguans are becoming alarmed at a combination proposed against them by certain parties in the other Central American States. Mora, it is said, was in this combination, and if he had succeeded in Costa Rica, the whole plan of operations would have speedily matured. It was, it is, to destroy the existence of Nicaragua as a State altogether, and to annex her to one of the other States. A letter has recently made its appearance, written by Barrios, the ruling President of San Salvador, to President Carrera, of Guatemala, in which he proposes that San Salvador shall be annexed to Guatemala, and Nicaragua to Honduras. He contends that this is necessary, on the grounds that these little republics within themselves have proved a perfect failure; that they are subjects of laughter for the whole world; that his experience in Europe and the United States justifies the assertion, however unpalatable it may be to his countrymen. The Nicaraguans are, therefore, considerably excited in regard to this movement, though there are many no doubt there who approve of it, and would like, if it were possible, to have the whole of the Central American States under one strong monarchical government.

CHARLES LEVER IN A SQUALL.—This well-known and highly appreciated novelist and his young daughter have recently passed through a watery trouble, which came nigh to being the deep waters not only of earth, but of the land beyond. While sailing pleasantly in the Gulf of Spezzia their little bark was upset by a squall, in a sea the waves of which were rolling high. The boat filled and went down immediately. The novelist had three tasks before him—the saving of his daughter's life, his own life, and his daughter's dog's life. Aided by some barrels, which fortunately rolled towards them, the three floated, and floated on the rising tide as Lever had often floated on the top-wave of popular favor, until a passing boat was hailed, and in mercy took them in, and on to safety.

Dawn of Day.

Daybreak never was described with greater beauty than by Miss Prescott, in her new Atlantic Monthly story. She describes three persons sailing on a lake, waiting for the dawn:

Ever and anon they passed under the lee of some island, and the heavy air grew full of idle night sweetness; the waning moon, with all its sad and alien power, hung low—dun, malign and distant, a coppery blotch on the rich darkness of heaven. They floated still; now and then she dipped a hand into the cool current; now and then he drew in his oars, and bending forward, dipped his hand with hers. The stars retreated in a pallid veil that dimmed their beams, faint lights streamed up the sky—the dark yet clear and delicious. They paused motionless in the shelter of a steep rock; over them a wild vine hung and awayed its long wreaths in the water, a sweet-brier starred with fragrant sleeping buds climbed and twisted, and tufts of ribbon-grass fell forward and streamed in the indolent ripple; beneath them the lake, lucid as some dark crystal sheeted with olive transparency, a bottom of yellow sand; here a bream poised on slowly waving fine, as if dreaming of motion, or a perch flashed its red fin from one hollow to another.

The shadow lifted a degree, the eye penetrated to further regions; a bird piped warily, then freely, a second and a third answered, a fourth took up the tale, bluejay and thrush, catbird and bobolink; wings began to dart about them, the world to rustle overhead; near and far the dark prime grew instinct with sound, the shores and heavens blew out gales of melody, the air broke up in music. He lifted his oars silently; she caught the sweet brier, and lightly shaking it, a rain of dewdrops dashed with deepest perfume sprinkled them; they moved on. A thin mist breathed from the lake, steamed round the boat, and lay like a white coverlet upon the water; a light wind sprung up and blew it in long rags and ribbons, lifted, and torn, and streaming out of sight. All the air was pearly, the sky was opaline, the water now crisply emblazoned with a dark and splendid jewelry—the paved work of a sapphire; a rosy fleece sailed across their heads; some furnace glowed in the east behind the trees; long beams fell resplendently through and lay beside vast shadows; the giant firs stood black and intense against a red and risen sun; they trailed with one oar through a pad of buds all unawares of change, stole from the overhanging thickets through a high-walled pass, where, on the open lake, the broad, silent, yellow light crept from bloom to bloom and awoke them with a touch.

Two Children Cured of Scrofula. Cincinnati, March 4, 1859.—Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co.—Dear Sirs: This is to certify that my two children have been afflicted with SCROFULOUS ULCERS. I tried your Blood and Liver Syrup, which cured them in a remarkably short time. My wife has been afflicted for many years with the most troublesome disease—Tetter and Rheumatism—and has used a good many remedies, which have failed to cure her; this remedy has made a radical cure. If any one wants a medicine for purifying the blood, they will find the above named among the best now in use.

Boundary Line Trade.

We adverted a few issues back to a statement put forth by the Olympia Standard and Portland Advertiser, that merchandise starting from Hope for Rock Creek, had to enter Washington Territory before reaching its destination; and also that the Dalles pack-trains had to pass over some twenty-five miles of British territory, in order to arrive at American Creek in Washington Territory. It having been, apparently, presumed by our contemporaries, that the geography of the country renders the respective routes permanent, they urged either reciprocity of trade in that particular locality, or the establishment of a Custom House there, to collect duties on British merchandise bound to Rock creek; inasmuch as the Dalles trains for American Creek had to pay full duties for the privilege of crossing the boundary. We have taken occasion to inquire into the truth of the state ments thus put forth; and find that the Hope and Dalles' packers have usually crossed the boundary line to reach their respective localities. But we learn that there is no natural obstacle on the Hope route, making it necessary to enter American territory, nor for the Dalles packers to cross the boundary line. Such being the true state of the question, there exists but little grounds in respect to routes to urge reciprocity of trade.

The usual route taken by the Dalles' traders to reach American Creek, after ascending to the Forks of the Okanagan is to take the Hope trail from that point to Tonasket City or Rock Creek—a distance of about twenty-five miles. Thence, they descend the Colville or Dease's river (as Anderson's map calls it) to American Creek, which, by the way, is better known in that region as Boundary Creek. But there is no necessity for them to ascend the Okanagan higher than its junction with the Upper Bonaparte river. There, an Indian trail takes a north-easterly course to American or Boundary Creek. By taking this route then the question of paying duties to the British Columbian collector is entirely avoided.

On the other hand, the Hope packers have been accustomed to descend the Similkameen to the junction of the Okanagan and Similkameen rivers. There cross the Lower Ford, and thence take the trail used by the Dalles' packers to Rock Creek. In taking this route, they cross the boundary line twice. But this can be entirely avoided—in fact it is often done by trains. Above the 49th parallel the Hope trail forks. The northernmost trail crosses the upper ford between the Northern and Southern Lakes of the Forks of Okanagan, and only about half a mile north of the boundary line. Thus it will be perceived there is no occasion for any conflict respecting the imposition of duties by Americans on British merchandise, and what is still better, goods may be transported from Hope to Rock Creek over a good trail entirely within British territory.

We entertain some doubts as to whether the recent proclamation imposing nominally a three per cent. fine, but actually ten per cent. or more on merchandise crossing the boundary, will benefit British interests. It may check to some considerable degree, the Dalles trade to Cariboo; but on the boundary, nothing but the strictest vigilance in stopping a contraband trade will prevent smuggling over the line. And even then it will become a very questionable matter whether the expenditure of the fines in salaries for excisemen will be considered an equivalent by the people of Rock Creek for higher price paid for the staple articles of consumption. It is certainly our policy to substitute Victoria and Hope, for Portland and the Dalles, as the route to transport supplies to the Rock Creek country. Instead of enriching the valley of the Columbia by the results of labor done on British territory, we should spend our profits on the Fraser. But we must also remember, that mere expediency in fostering a particular channel of trade, must eventually give way to the course of trade marked out by the geography of the country. If the natural facilities for the transportation of merchandise are better via the Dalles than by Hope; if the transportation is cheaper by the former than by the latter if staple articles come cheaper in price via the Dalles than via Hope—we may rest assured that the Dalles must eventually supply the boundary region. Men will buy in the cheapest market; and the Rock Creek traders will prove no exception to the rule.

Already there exists on the boundary, two centres of trade—Tonasket city on the British side, and American or Boundary Creek on the American side. The latter place is built where the Creek, whose name it bears, forms a junction with Colville river. In fact, it is on the boundary line; for Boundary Creek takes its rise in British Columbia and flows through it, with the exception of three hundred yards below the 49th parallel, where it joins Colville river. From this point then, in a highly auriferous region, merchandise may be distributed on both sides of the line. If the duties on the frontier are prohibitory, the natural consequence will be a flourishing trading post on the American side. If they are liberal—if they do no injustice to Rock Creek in comparison with other sections of the colony, then Boundary Creek will have to depend on the resources immediately south of it, to make it a place of importance.

As we before stated, our true policy is to make Victoria and Hope the channel of trade. To make that route a success, should be our object. As yet it has not proved so. Packing from the Dalles to Rock Creek, last year, was fifteen cents; from Hope, twenty cents; thus there is a difference of one hundred dollars a ton in favor of the former. That sum will go a considerable distance towards neutralizing the three per cent. fine. But there is no good reason why freight over the Hope route should be greater, but many why it should be less. From Hope to Rock Creek is 150 miles; from the Dalles, 325 miles; leaving 175 miles in favor of the Hope trail. There is no natural obstacle in the route which cannot be overcome either in winter or summer. So if we really wish to enjoy the benefits of the boundary trade, the Hope trail must be the means to do it. Prohibitory boundary duties will not accomplish it.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE RACE ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

VICTORIA, V. I. Jan. 1st, 1860.
To Messrs. John D'Evies, and A. S. Pease, Stewards of the Beacon Hill Race Course:

GENTLEMEN—We, the undersigned, owner and backers of the grey horse "Butcher Boy," beg to forward to you our protest and objection to the Judge's decision on this day, between the above horse and Mr. Harris's chestnut horse "Jim," and our grounds of objection are as follows:

1st. That the match was made to all intents and purposes as a bona-fide match, the best horse to be the winner, and that the grey horse was first past the winning post, and consequently won the race.
2nd. That the rules of racing in England or elsewhere have never been carried out here, and that the rules of the English Jockey Club are not, and were not, in the match this day, applicable on this race course.

3rd. That the cause of disqualification on which the stakes were (by the Judge's decision) withheld from the owner of the grey horse, was insufficient, and the objection groundless, inasmuch as the rider of the grey horse did not dismount of his own accord, but that the fact was inevitable the horse having stumbled and the rider freed himself from the horse in order to save himself from a severe fall over the horse's head, and mounted immediately.

4th. That even if you should be of opinion that the rules of the English Jockey Club are applicable here, we submit to you that the decision as it stands is invalid and ineffective for this reason: the objection taken ought to have been preferred before the Stewards, and not the Judge, he having no power to entertain any objections of any kind, soever, that being exclusively the duty of the Stewards. The Judge's duty not extending any further than to see which horse is the first to pass the winning post.

5th. That we now beg leave to prefer an objection against the rider of the chestnut horse, on the ground of unfair riding. That in passing, or immediately after passing the last quarter pole, the rider of the chestnut horse crossed from the inside of the course to the outside and jostled the grey horse, and in doing so pushed him out of the course. This we are in a position to prove to your satisfaction.

6th. That after the race the rider of the grey horse came to the scale and was found to be of proper weight by the party appointed to weigh him. Under these circumstances we beg to leave our case in your hands, not doubting that you will see the injustice under which we are laboring, you as Stewards, and you alone, having power to settle all disputes arising on the race course from any cause whatever.

We are gentlemen, yours very obediently,
HENRY FULLER.
W. L. ARMSTRONG.
SEBASTIAN FULLER.
EDW. DUPUIS.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Murder at Esquimalt.

Yesterday afternoon the residents of Esquimalt were startled on learning that a man had been murdered the night previous in that town. The murdered man was a violinist attached to H. M. S. Plumper, and the alleged murderer is Wm. Millington, a resident in the colony for ten years past, and heretofore considered a sober, respectable man. The body was found about two o'clock in the afternoon, lying in the rear of Millington's house, by one of his children while playing. The child informed Mr. Williams, a saloon-keeper, of the discovery, and several citizens proceeded to the spot and found the body lying by the side of a tree, partly covered with two or three fir boughs—as if an attempt had been made at concealment. This arms of deceased were raised in an attitude of defence, probably from a pistol ball, was found just under his shoulder-blade, and upon a thorough examination by Dr. Forbes, it was ascertained to have lodged in his heart, and must have caused instant death. Search was at once made for Millington, but he was nowhere to be found, and is supposed to have fled into the country and secreted himself. Several of the neighbors heard cries of "murder," about two o'clock yesterday morning, and immediately afterwards, a shot was fired, and then all became still. Deceased and Millington had been together at a saloon drinking, a short time previous, and left together; and probably fell out on the way to the latter's house, and hence the killing. Yesterday morning, Millington said to some friends, "I shot at a man last night; and I'll shoot at any man that comes around my house after dark." No attention was paid to the remark at the time by the parties who were spoken to, and no more was thought of it until the discovery of the body. Last evening, Chief of Police Smith proceeded to Esquimalt, and searched diligently for the accused, but could find no trace of him. A guard was posted around the town, and to-day a more thorough search by the police will be instituted. The deceased's name we did not learn. He is said to have been an excellent man and much beloved by his shipmates. His age was about 30 years, and he was an Englishman by birth. Millington is a middle-aged man, short in stature, and a native of England. He has a wife and three lovely children, and owns considerable property in Esquimalt town. He was well known here as a bricklayer—having built the first brick house in Victoria—and usually conveyed Wells, Fargo & Co's Express bag to this place from Esquimalt on the arrival of the California steamers. We hope that no effort in procuring his arrest will be spared by the authorities.

A WARRIOR AND HIS FAMILY IN TROUBLE.

—The notorious "Paul Jones," a Hydah Indian Chief, who lost his sight many years ago, during a conflict with an Indian belonging to another tribe, was arrested by special officer Sheper, on New Year's day, charged with having stolen a number of small articles from the house of a citizen. Two squaws and a little boy, members of his family-circle, were also arrested, charged with the same offence. They were all convicted before the police magistrate yesterday. The two women and the boy were sent to prison, being minus a small fine. "Paul" was ordered to find security not to pilfer again for the space of two months, in the sum of £5; but as he was unable to procure the necessary sum, was committed to jail for one month. A few short years ago, this old chieftain ruled the savage tribes on the Northwest Coast with a rod of iron, and at the mere mention of his name the other chiefs "poltatched" any amount of blankets or furs to keep in his good graces. To-day, not one of them will go his security in a paltry sum for future good behaviour. "How have the mighty fallen!"

STOPPED RUNNING.—Mr. Wilby, the Esquimalt expressman, has discontinued his express to that town. Cause—the wretched state of the roads. Mr. W. has made daily trips with his express between Victoria and Esquimalt, for some time back, and the discontinuance of this enterprise will prove a serious detriment to travel on that route.

What are the representatives of Esquimalt about? The road remains in the same condition as two years ago, and is not only a disgrace to the colony at large, but reflects no credit upon the members of Assembly who promised so fair before election, and have accomplished so little since.

THE BOY'S BOAT RACE.—Editor BRITISH COLONIST:—Yesterday afternoon, at one o'clock, a few of the boys of the Col- legiate school met together to have a boat race. Captain Nagle started them from James' Bridge. George Little's boat took the lead and maintained it throughout the race. The winners were awarded a prize of twenty dollars. The distance rowed was from the bridge to a buoy at the mouth of the harbor, and back to the point of starting. In the second race, one of the boat's crew did not run, and Lester's boat took the prize of sixteen dollars, with which four knives were bought, and one awarded to each boy of Lester's boat.

Yours truly,

A. H. G.

VICTORIA, January 2, 1861.

THE RACE.—The race of one mile, between Bowman's "Butcher Boy" and Harris' "Jim," for $750 to $500 a side, came off over the Beacon Hill Course on New Year's Day. "Butcher Boy" led "Jim" to the winning post by about thirty feet—time 2m 12s; but owing to the rider of the former not approaching the judge's stand and announcing himself, "Jim" was declared the winner. Considerable excitement regarding the decision ensued among those present who had money staked on the result, and only a portion of the bets have been handed over. The backers of "Butcher Boy" assert that the rider of their favorite was compelled to dismount at the winning-post on account of a mis-step on the part of the animal he bestrode; also, that their horse was jostled off the track near the last quarter pole, by "Jim." "Jim's" admirers assert quite as positively that the rider of the competing horse dismounted voluntarily about 150 yards beyond the stand, among some bushes; and that if the alleged jostling took place, complaint was not made at the proper time. The question is a decidedly "mixed" one, and "Ruff's Guide to the Turf," and other sporting works, were freely consulted yesterday by those peculiarly interested. We learned last evening that the judge and one of the stewards had made a final decision, awarding the race to "Jim," and the purse will be handed over this morning.

CANOE CAPSIZED AT ALBERT HEAD.—SIX LIVES LOST.—Mr. Robert Ridley, who arrived last evening in a boat from the wreck of the Nannette, informs us that a canoe, containing seven persons, was capsized at Albert Head on Tuesday evening, about six o'clock, and six of the occupants drowned. It seems that the canoe was on its way to this place from the wreck, and was heavily laden with goods. When near Albert Head she got into a tide-rip, and was borne along to the surf, where she finally upset. The lost were: Stephen Wheatley, and — Fowler (colored), two Kanakas, names unknown, an Indian woman, and a half-breed child, 18 months old. A colored man, named T. H. Hawkins, clung to the bottom of the boat for an hour and three quarters, and finally succeeded in reaching the shore in an exhausted state. He arrived in this city last evening, in Mr. Ridley's boat. Before the men started from the Nannette, they were told their boat was loaded too deep; but disregarding what was said, found watery graves through their own folly.

LAUNCH.—On account of the state of the tide, the new screw steamer just completed at Laurel Point, will be launched at daylight this morning. The owners will be happy to see all their friends on board the boat at St. Our's wharf at 11 o'clock this a.m. She will be named the Emily Harris, after the youngest daughter of Thos. Harris, Esq., the principal owner.

THE DELUGE BALL.—Extensive preparations are being made by the members of the Deluge Engine Company, for their first ball, which it is intended shall be held on the evening of the 24th inst. The Governor and family will honor the ball with their presence, and nothing will be omitted to make it a social and pleasant reunion. Tickets may be obtained of any of the committee.

THE NEXT STEAMER.—The Portland Advertiser learns that the mail steamer California, was to have left for this port on the 29th December. If the information be correct, she may be looked for on the 5th inst.

ASSESSORS.—Messrs. John I. Cochrane, and Thomas Trowne, of Victoria, and Lewis Davis, of Esquimalt, have been appointed Colonial Assessors, under the One Per Cent. Tax on Real Estate Act, and will enter upon their duties immediately.

THE ALLEGED DISHONEST WRECKERS.—The cases of Philip Machinelli and Fabian Mitchell, arrested on a charge of having stolen goods from the wreck of the Nannette, have been postponed for one week in the police court.

DAMAGED GOODS.—P. M. Backus yesterday disposed of about $10,000 worth of the damaged goods from the wreck of the Nannette. The bidding was spirited, and the prices obtained generally very high.

THE TEA MEETING.—Moore's Musical Hall was well filled last evening, on the occasion of the Congregational Church Tea Meeting. Many ladies were present, and addresses were made by clergymen and others.

NEW YEAR'S DAY passed off quietly. Many of our citizens seized upon the occasion to visit their friends, and cordial good feeling and sober enjoyment were manifested by all.

D. AND D.—There were several drunk and disorderly persons before the police magistrate yesterday; all of whom received the usual fine and caution.

The steamer Oregon, hence for San Francisco, arrived at Portland on the evening of the 25th ult.

The steamer Flying Dutchman will be ready for a trial trip on or about the 16th inst.

ACCIDENT TO THE SCHOONER LOUISE.—The Schooner Rob Roy, owned by Messrs. John T. Little & Co., was sunk on New Year's Eve, while alongside of the wreck of the Nannette. The hands saved themselves by jumping into the rigging of the wreck. On Tuesday, Mr. Little chartered the steamer Caledonia, and having succeeded in raising his schooner, she was towed into the harbor yesterday morning. She will be easily repaired. The accident was caused by her side coming in contact with a portion of the wreck.

THE MORTARA CHILD.—It seems, according to a recent note from Count Cavour, that the Sardinian government is about to interfere in behalf of the Mortara child, about which there was so much excitement a year ago. It is likely now that he will be restored to his parents from the convent in which he is confined, as the Sardinian government expresses itself convinced of the policy of Mortara's claims.

POPULATION OF RUSSIA.—The total population of Russia is 79,000,000. The lower orders, serfs, petty traders, and artisans form a total of 53,500,000. The nobles still possess 21,000,000 serfs. The population of Siberia, including the wandering tribes of Kasan, Astrakan, and Orenburg, is 4,000,000.

Greeleys' Bourbon Bitters.
THE POPULARITY OF THESE BIT- ters is justly due to the purity of the materials of which they are prepared, and the delicate combination of simple alteratives and tonics so well calculated to act upon every part of the digestive organs, and through them to reach and cure all complaints arising from a diseased condition of the Stomach and Bowels.

GREELEYS' BOURBON WHISKEY BITTERS
are highly nourishing and fattening, and as a Tonic
for the people, delicate ladies, consumptive patients, and all weakly persons, they cannot be surpassed. In all cases of Weakness or Debility, they will give immediate relief, and impart a strong, healthy tone to the system. For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Neuritis, Dropsy, Liver Complaints, Weakness, or Debility, Flatulency and Nausea, and all complaints consequent upon a disordered state of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they are not equalled. As an agreeable stomachic, they are much admired; they sharpen the appetite, brighten the intellect, and infuse new life and vigor. No one who uses these Bitters can be subject to an attack of Fever and Ague or Diarrhea.
Put up in Quart Bottles, in cases of one and two dozen, and for sale by Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Merchants everywhere.

Bitters.—No medicine has ever achieved a higher reputation. In every section of the country its mer-physicians in the country have expressed their warm approval of this preparation, as uniting all the best qualities of a tonic and invigorator, without kindling an appetite for alcoholic liquors. In cases of disease of the digestive organs, to which all unacclimated persons are from necessity, exposed, as the proper diet cannot at all times be had, the Bitters will be found to be the quickest corrective and most reliable remedy yet discovered. Diarrhea, Dysentery, and the various bilious and intermittent fevers all yield to the curative properties of this medicine. No person
